

Dec. 2011 Andy headed off to the South Pole at the end of October as part of a National Science Foundation project team. This is year three and the radio signal and magnetic field measuring equipment he has been installing is working better and better.

Connie and Ted live the California life style. Connie bikes in the hills and Ted is rarely separated from his Kindle.

Morris finished high school and is spending a year in Israel before heading off to MIT. Henry is a middleschooler with many interests including karate.

Frank's office got moved again in the new chemistry building at Princeton so now he has a view of the rain gardens and brook. He volunteers for environmental cleanups and trail maintenance. And I spent summer 33 at the Silver Bay Y working in the Nature Center and around the waterfront, hiking, and taking photos of wildflowers.

Happy holidays and good wishes for 2012!
